

Learning is Fun, But Education Stinks

This book will illuminate the following: how we learn, how creativity functions, how emotions fuel thinking, why bureaucracy destroys education, what causes student and teacher apathy, why grades, tests and lectures crush learning and creativity, why textbooks are a sham, how political correctness destroys the free exchange of ideas, why art and creativity are so important to learning, why the money goes to facilities as opposed to teachers, how organized religion negatively impacts education, how military training is damaging, why dialogue is such a powerful teaching tool, how to teach more effectively, how joy and laughter are important to learning and who needs to take charge and change the system.
