

Siberian Pictures, Vol. 1 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Siberian Pictures, Vol. 1. Siberia only a short time ago possessed neither towns, nor villages, nor even habitable houses. Her steppes were not traversed by any practicable roads, or varied by arable fields bearing witness to agricultural labour. No trace of a thinking being existed. Wherever the eye ranged there spread an immense desert, hiding in its valleys and innumerable steppes Polar inhabitants completely isolated from the rest of the world. In the west lived the Tartars, in the north the Ostiaks, in the south the Sayans and the Buriati. The centre was occupied by the Tunguz and Yakuts. Their occupation consisted of hunting, fishing, and rearing animals. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy.
