

DUTCH AMERICANS IN U.S. GOVERNMENT LEADERSHIP POSITIONS

Dutch Americans have had an extra-ordinary impact on American government during the early years of the republic until the present. At present Dutch Americans are only a small portion of the American population. But in its early beginning they formed a substantial portion of the government leadership at all levels from local, state to federal levels. This book identifies all those Dutch Americans who have served in leadership positions in the federal government from prior to the Revolution until the present. The individuals are organized into categories such as U.S. Presidents, U.S. Senators, U.S. Congressmen, U.S. Justices, U.S. Military Leaders, U. S. Astronauts and U.S. Ambassadors to the Netherlands. The most prominent individuals are the three U.S. Presidents consisting of Presidents Van Buren, Theodore Roosevelt and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Next follow the U.S. Senators and Congressmen. The military leaders are grouped in three groups: Revolutionary War, Civil War and War of 1812, and those who served during the time from World War I until the present. For each one of the individuals covered a biographical profile is presented. Where available a picture of each individual is also shown. Enjoy reading about each one of the individuals covered in this book.
