

Survive the Savage Sea

At 10 a.m. on June 15th, 1972, the 43-foot schooner Lucette, sailed by a Scottish ex-farmer and his family, was attacked by killer whales in the Pacific and sank in 60 seconds. So began one of the great adventure stories of our time- an epic of courage and endurance in the face of the most crushing odds. Set adrift in an inflatable rubber raft, with a 9 foot fiberglass dinghy to tow it, Dougal Robertson, and his crew of five- his wife, 18 year old son, 12 year old twin boys, and a student friend-realized that they were engaged in a fierce and unrelenting struggle for survival. After 37 days, 8 hours, and 40 minutes the Robertsons ordeal came to an end when a Japanese fishing boat picked them up, with only 290 miles more to go to land.
