

Stalwart Women: A Historical Analysis of Deans of Women in the South (Athene Series)

This innovative study provides a close examination of the accomplishments of four women who served as Deans of Women in coeducational institutions. Focusing on Southern colleges rather than traditionally elite institutions, the author begins with each woman's retirement and looks back at their fascinating lives of achievement, spirit, and strength. With appeal to those in the fields of Women's History, Southern History, and the History of Education, at both the graduate and undergraduate levels, this groundbreaking volume illuminates the enduring impact and legacy of the female dean.
