

The Uncommon Friendship of Yaltah Menuhin and Willa Cather

The extraordinary story of the friendship between American author Willa Cather (1873-1947) and Lionel Rolfe's mother, piano prodigy Yaltah Menuhin (1920-2001), sister of world class violinist Yehudi Menuhin. Against the tumultuous backdrop of America and Europe in the early and mid-20th century, Rolfe presents the engrossing chronicle of his mother's struggle as a budding musician, her tragic relationship with her own parents, and the solace she found when Cather became her mentor - a mutually stimulating friendship that would endure for decades and see Yaltah inspiring some of the most memorable heroines in Cather's novels, most notably Lucy Gayheart. Review Rolfe opens up his family's history to examine the creative symbiosis in the cross-generational friendship between Cather and Yaltah -- Weekly Variety, Nov. 1, 2004
