

The Works of Sir William Jones, Vol. 4 of 6 (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Works of Sir William Jones, Vol. 4 of 6 My Lord, If I were not fully apprized of Your Lordships contempt for that servile and adulatory style, in which patrons of eminent rank are too frequently addressed; yet my own habits and sentiments would sufficiently secure You from the uneasiness, which panegyrick most sensibly gives to those who most highly deserve it; nor should I indeed have been ambitious of obtaining any protection for the following work, which must succeed or fail by its own worth or demerit, and cannot be supported by the splendour of a name, if the obligations, which Your Lordship has conferred on me, were not of such a kind, as to call aloud for the most open and the warmest acknowledgement.
