

The right to education of children with disabilities in Uganda: A case of inclusive education for children with disabilities in UnUniversal Primary Education

Disability is not inability and there is nothing for us without us. The right to inclusive education is for us all. Children with disability should be given priority. It is the responsibility of governments to ensure that all categories of children with disabilities are provided with appropriate education. A human rights approach should be used as a tool for assessing the existing system of education especially in developing countries. Early Intervention and provision of assistive devices is of paramount importance.
