

The Perfect School

Everybody wants a perfect school, but what does that really mean? If you could start over, what could you do to make your school perfect? That's what three top award-winning educators from Illinois asked each other, then dug into their respective areas of strength to answer. The result is a no-nonsense look at perfect teachers, perfect staff, perfect parents, and perfect principals, plus the features and steps required to spread perfection throughout any K-12. Rather than spend time defining an educational utopia, here is a book that provides a roadmap for every teacher, principal, superintendent, School Board member, parent, tax payer and you.
