

In This Life

I never really felt like I was capable of fulfilling anything. I didn't have a lot of money or pretty much of anything growing up, but I always managed to make the best of everything I did have. I was very creative with the little I had. Until my mother passed away. After her passing I used to write down thoughts that I had until I was introduced to poetry. I first started writing around the age of 13 or 14 years old, but I kept it hidden. Therefore I just want to deliver some of my memories of my teenage life through poetry.
